BUS TERMINAL
TO MOVE HEREMarion To Become Divisional
Point for Lincoln
Trails System

CHANCE DUE ON MAY 15

Headquarters To Be on North
State Street 10 Drivers To Be Located Here

Marion's reputation as a transportation center was given another boost today with the announcement that on May 15 the city will become the divisional point between Chicago and Pittsburgh for the Lincoln Trails System operating 33 passenger buses between those two cities.

Arrangements for moving the divisional point from Lima to Marion were announced by R. R. Strout of Chicago passenger traffic manager for the company who was in the city today. Mr. Strout said 10 Lincoln Trails drivers and their families plan to leave Chicago and Pittsburgh to make their homes here after the middle of the month. The change in the divisional point is effective May 15.

The terminal for the buses is located at 16 North State street which is also the home of the Buckeye Stages B. G. Fook of Marion has been named local representative of the company, with headquarters at the terminal building.

The Lincoln Trails coaches have been running through Marion since last June. Columbus is a main point in the company's route between Chicago and Pittsburgh. The company has added a number of new 33 passenger coaches to its line for service on this route. The buses were made especially for the Lincoln Trails by the General Motors Corp. at its Pontiac Mich. plant. They are in a cream and crimson color combination which Mr. Strout said was selected by the Dupont company as having the highest visibility on the road of any color scheme.

Mr. Strout also announced that the Lincoln Trails System has affiliated with the National Trailways System a coast-to-coast network of leading coach lines. The company operates four buses through Marion daily two in each direction.

TRANSFER OF MEN
TO PRISON DELAYEDOrder of District Court Suspends
Execution of Sentence Pending Appeal

The transfer of Grover Braden and Othel Watkins to the Ohio penitentiary to start life terms for the slaying of James F. Bennett has been indefinitely delayed as the result of an order of the Third district court of appeals yesterday suspending execution of the sentences until an appeal is heard in that court.

The order was granted on the application of W. P. Moloney and Homer E. Johnson attorneys for the convicted men Braden and Watkins, were sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young yesterday morning and immediately after the defense attorneys and Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel went to the district court in Lima.

Attorney Johnson said the cases will be carried to the higher court on error proceedings within a few days. He said it probably will be a matter of several weeks before the appeal comes before the district court.

Prosecutor Michel objected to the order issued by the court of appeals yesterday on the grounds that the expense of keeping the men in the Marion county jail pending a decision on the appeal will have to be borne by the county.

Michel quoted Presiding Judge William Kinzer as saying that it has always been the policy of the court of appeals to suspend execution of a sentence pending appeal proceedings when it is requested by the defense unless a very good reason is given not to do so.

The Water Referendum

If you believe the Marion water system as it now stands is not worth $1,500,000—

If there is doubt in your mind that it is worth $1,500,000—

If you are convinced the city made a bad deal with the bonding companies by contracting exclusively with two instead of receiving competitive bids on an issue of $1,600,000 worth of bonds—

If you believe an interest rate of 4.35 per cent as set by the bonding companies is too high—

If you believe that a lower interest rate possibly 4 per cent as enjoyed by other cities can be negotiated with the same or other bonding companies—

If you believe the city should employ its own engineers to determine the value of the water system—

If you believe the previous administration made a mistake in relying solely upon engineers employed by the bonding companies for information as to the systems value—

If you realize that rates cannot be lowered under municipal ownership because of the purchase price financing charges and operating costs—

If you appreciate that almost the entire burden will be borne by domestic and commercial users of water—

If you understand that most of the industrial consumption of water has been lost to the company having paid 35 per cent of the company's revenue in 1925 and only 3 1/2 per cent in 1935—

If you foresee municipal ownership of the water system as a political football a place to pad the payroll a place to pay off election favors—

If you foresee delinquencies in the payment of water bills in trade for political favors—

If it is clear to you that the purchase price is approximately $200,000 higher than the company's own book value—

If it is clear to you that the state utilities commission approved the system at $1,233,460 in 1935 and that it is on the county tax duplicate at $791,460 as compared with the purchase price of $1,550,000—

If you acknowledge that the rates are high now and there is no prospect of lowering them under municipal ownership unless the plant can be bought for less money—

If it is clear to you that much of the company's business has declined as appears from gallonage sales of 938,746,490 in 1925 to 351,340,000 in 1935—

If you understand that Marion users pay $29 each for 54,319 gallons of water as against the average in other Ohio cities of $21 each for 125,482 gallons of water—

If you foresee the necessity for extension of mains and additional bond issues to finance them—

If you believe the present administration should not be tied by the heavy commitments of the previous administration and should be left free to negotiate with the water company for lower rates—

If you have confidence the same or a better opportunity will continue to exist for purchase of the water system—

If you believe new negotiations should be entered into between the city and the water company open to the public not in secret with advice of engineers employed by the city and with the bonds sold at competitive bidding—

If you believe the foregoing summary of points in the controversy makes the purchase objectionable—

Then you should vote against either one or all three of the questions on Tuesday's ballot.

If you are satisfied that the previous administration made the best bargain it could make—

If you are satisfied that the purchase price of $1,550,000 is not too high that the system is worth the money that the advice of engineers employed by the bonding companies is ample and conclusive—

If you believe the 4.35 per cent interest rate is the lowest the city can get from these or other bonding companies—

If you believe that rates can promptly be lowered under municipal ownership or lowered within a reasonable period of time that there is no danger politics will play a part in operation of the department that proper economies will be exercised that the revenues will be conserved for the payment of interest retirement of bonds maintenance of a fund for depreciation replacement and extension of mains—

If you believe that the city can win back the lost industrial users who now have their own water systems—

If you believe the present administration should be bound by the commitments of the previous administration on a matter so important as this—

If you believe this will be the last opportunity Marion will have to buy the system from the present operating company and that we should swallow the proposal hook line and sinker—

Then you should vote for all three questions on Tuesday's ballot.

M. E. BISHOP DEMANDS
ATTACK ON COMMUNISMLeonard Talk Seen as Thrust at Methodist Federation of Social Service

COLUMBUS, O., May 8.—A fiery demand that Methodism drive Russia from communism from the United States came today from Bishop Adna W. Leonard of Pittsburgh before the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

We cannot stop at the destruction of such evils as slavery the liquor traffic and gambling the conservative church leader declared.

We must go straight through and make it impossible for communism to have any place under the Stars and Stripes.

Conference leaders interpreted the bishop's speech made at the morning devotion services as an attack on the Methodist Federation of Social Service which has advocated a planned social economy program Bishop Leonard has been a leader in opposing alleged radical factions of the church.

The members of the conference have a grave responsibility in action they must take on this ultra radical question (approval of a planned social economy) for upon their decision rests future problems that may deplete our church of its finest bravest souls," Bishop Leonard said.

He bluntly demanded that the church set its goal the destruction of Russian communism in the United States.

There are all too many ministers and laymen who would substitute alien social and economic plans for our own democratic form of government who would risk upon us a planned economy in the form of a radical, mechanized socialism.

PREDICT HUGE
COUNTY VOTEElection Board Officials Expect
Turnout of 14,000 at Polls Tuesday

SPECIAL ISSUES ON BALLOT

Voters Will Express Preference
on Nation State, County,
District Candidates

Marion county voters will have a busy day at the May 12 primaries next Tuesday.

They will—

Express a preference for party candidates for president

Nominate state district and county candidates

Elect delegates for state and national party conventions

Elect precinct and district party committee members

Decide a number of special questions

County election officials predicted this array will attract approximately 14,000 voters to the county's 57 voting places. Four years ago a similar election brought out a vote of only 8,000.

Election officials in an estimate to the secretary of state predicted 7,500 Republicans and 6,500 Democrats will be cast.

The fact there are more contests on the Republican ticket and the presence of delegate candidates pledged to Senator Borah and Robert A. Taft for president on the Republican ticket were given as reasons for making the Republican vote estimate high.

Special questions to come before Marion county voters are referendum on municipal purchase of the Marion waterworks and a 3 1/2 mill levy for two years for municipal operating purposes.

In addition city voters will join those in the county balloting on a proposed one mill poor relief levy for two years.

Four other special issues will be

BE PREPARED TO CAST VOTE
AT PRIMARIESSelection of Party Candidates
Too Often Considered of Little Importance

BALLOT IS EXPLAINED

Confusion Over Election of Presidential Delegates
Cleared Up for Voters

There is a common and unfortunate impression among voters that the primary election is not important that the general election in November is the big thing the decisive thing.

Voters who neglect the primary are selling their city their county their state and their nation down the river. The primary is important in many ways more important even than the general election where candidates of the two major parties are simply pitted one against the other.

In the primary election the candidates of the two major parties are selected and it is in this selection that the conscientious voter may do something to improve government by picking the ablest men on both the Republican and Democratic tickets.

The best candidates the ablest men frequently fail to win because too many people neglect their obligation on primary day. Too frequently weak, incapable candidates are nominated and later elected because for many voters go to booths unprepared and without information to guide them.

Go to the polls Tuesday prepared.

The Republican candidate for president will be chosen by delegates at the Republican national convention to be held in Cleveland in June. It is important therefore that Republican voters exercise judgment in the selection of candidates for delegates to that convention.

To some the controversy between the so-called favorite son and Senator Borah is confusing. The explanation is simple. Friends of Senator Borah in Ohio arranged a slate of candidates for delegates committed to vote for him at the convention as their nominee for president. The names of Governor Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Frank Haney of Illinois, former President Hoover and others will go before the convention Ohio Republicans were not willing to be generally committed to Borah preferred to remain without commitment so that Ohio's ballot may be cast for any of the named candidates.

Delegates for Taft

To make the freedom possible other candidates for delegate work under the banner of Robert A. Taft of Cleveland. On the first ballot at Cleveland Mr. Taft will receive the complimentary vote of as many of his delegates as are elected Tuesday. It will be their recognition of a man who is entitled to Ohio respect for his previous public service a vote for a favorite son. After the first ballot at Cleveland other favored candidates appear to be stronger the delegates will be free to favor either Governor Landon, Senator Vandenberg, Col. Knox, Mr. Hoover or any other candidate upon whom the convention may center its attention.

If you are a Republican and prefer to have Ohio's group of delegates free to use their own judgment on the convention floor then vote for Clarence F. Brown, Walter F. Brown, Leroy E. Bundy, Myers S. Cooper, Gertrude Jones, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Frank M. Hanson and Carmel A. Thompson for delegate-at-large.

Similarly vote for Granville B. Rogers, Robert L. Barton, Alvin E. Caple, Jean Graham, William E. Knodell, John H. Rives, A. Black and Mrs. Frank R. Willis for all male delegates.

District Delegates

If you prefer to have delegates from the Eighth congressional district of Ohio—Marion county, Crawford county, Wayne county, Hardin county and Hancock county—free to use their own judgment on the convention floor then vote for Henry H. Harvey and James P. McInch for district delegates as well as Alton F. Gregg and Mrs. Margaret G. Harder for alternate.

If you prefer to have Ohio delegation split and want unity some of them committed to Senator Borah, there are his candidates: Leonard S. Douglas, Russell C. Hied, Daniel S. Knight, Roscoe McCullough, Charles McIntire, Daniel E. Morgan and Lyle Bennett Wilson for delegates-at-large and Ralph G. Marshall for alternate-at-large.

In the Eighth district Borah candidates for delegates are Dr. R. T. Morgan and C. V. Blah.

The Democratic ticket presents for preference for president of the United States, Henry Breckinridge, New York attorney native of Kentucky, friend of Woodrow Wilson, friend of Dwight Morrow, friend of Charles Lindbergh, lifelong Democrat who believes the present administration at Washington has gone too far toward upturning American tradition, too far in threatening constitutional freedom of action too far in hoodwinking. He contends with President.

ADMITS KIDNAPING
OF WEYERHAEUSERWilliam Mahan, Ex-Convict,
Pleads Guilty to Holding
Lumber Fortune HeirBy the Associated Press
TALOMA, Wash., May 8.—William Mahan, ex-convict, pleaded guilty today in federal court to the $1,000,000 kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, 9-year-old lumber fortune heir. The plea was on both counts.

Judge Cushman then sentenced Mahan to 40 years on each count, but did not say immediately whether they would be consecutive or concurrent. The sentence was to be served in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

He made his plea in the main courtroom where nearly a year ago his two alleged confederates in the $200,000 kidnaping received long prison sentences.

Arraignment of the star-famed ex-convict captured by federal agents Thursday at San Francisco was ordered by U. S. District Attorney J. Charles Donahoe after Mahan's guards reported he was ready to answer to indictments of kidnaping conspiracy to kidnap and using the mails to extort.

LAKELAND, N. Y., May 8.—The Hindenburg, newest and largest of the Zepplins, completed its first trip across the North Atlantic today in record time for lighter-than-air craft.

The giant ship was moored at the naval air base here at 5.23 a. m. 61 hours and 33 minutes after it left its home port of Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Following the mooring here, the ship will leave for America and will return to Lakeland today in record time for lighter-than-air craft.

It was sighted over New York City at 4 a. m. Just as dawn was lighting the sky, thousands of early risers observed the ship's tail down their whistles.

After cruising over Manhattan for 15 minutes, the 363-foot ship sailed south directly for Lakeland.

The red and black of a large Nazi Swastika was visible on the vertical fin at a dozen or more airplanes circled far above.

At 5.10 a. m. the Hindenburg for the first time touched soil in the United States on the first of its ten scheduled round trip commercial voyages from Germany during the summer.

A landing crew of trained sailors from the United States navy, aided by about 60 civilians, brought the ship safely to land.

The civilians were pressed into service because soldier reinforcements from Camp Dix were not on hand when the ship arrived.

The Hindenburg alighted on the air station before it touched the earth, dumped its water ballast, and threw out its upper air append as an reduced that as it slowly turned about the field it looked as if it were standing still. With all its low lines hunched by the swarms of ground men the Hindenburg's nose was made fast to the mooring mast at 5.23 a. m.

CHIPPEWA INDIANS PRESENT PROGRAM

One of the most colorful programs presented in Epworth M. E. church in some time was the concert and pageant given last night by the Chippewa Indian band from Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Twenty-one full-blooded Indian men, women and children from the reservation appeared in full Indian dress with their pastor Rev. Elmer Mayhew who has two churches on the reservation. The band came to Marion from Columbus where the members appeared on one of the programs of the Methodist general conference.

The first part of the program was given over to the primitive Indian dance and war cry, usually the program led up to the modern Indian band trained by Christian educators.

A pageant depicted the story of the making of peace between the warring Chippewa and Sioux tribes in northern Michigan in the early days of the country.

Among those who took part in the pageant were Misses Belle and Jeanne, who were dressed in traditional Indian dress. The pageant was directed by Misses Jeanne and Belle, who were dressed in traditional Indian dress.

Jim Peters, a local preacher on the reservation, gave testimony of his faith and told of his experiences overseas during the World War. Mr. and Mrs. Peters were singers for the program.

If it had not been for Yoder working with Governor Davey and Republican leaders White, we would have had a burden of taxation that would have weighed heavily upon many of our people directly and upon all of us indirectly. Paul Yoder on his record deserves well of Ohio voters in general and in particular, of Ohio voters who think the six rocketing of taxes has been ended for enough.

Taft, Borah Vote DRIVES NEAR CLOSE

By The Associated Press
Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati head of the Ohio G. O. P. favorite son ticket told an audience in Hamilton last night that Sen. Borah has supported virtually all new deal legislative proposals.

Taft said the only way to restore prosperity would be to speed up production to the 1929 level but since the budget and adopt sound financial principles.

He said that Thursday Borah rapped Roosevelt for failure to collect America's war debts.

I believe collection is impossible Taft asserted.

With an attack on the favorite son plan of the state Republican organization Borah last night approached the climax of his campaign for the election of his Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention.

Borah speaking in Cleveland said the favorite son' delegation would be more likely to vote to nominate Herbert Hoover than any of the other Republican candidates.

In the Ohio primary next Tuesday Borah's slate of 35 delegate candidates is opposed by a slate of 52 backed by the state Republican organization.

Form of Ballot

An additional tax for the benefit of the City of Marion, Ohio, for the purpose of providing additional funds for the current expenses of the City of Marion, Ohio, and to raise the share of the City of Marion, to meet federal funds for WPA projects, at the rate of 3.2 mills for a period not exceeding two years including the current year.

By order of Board of Elections,
Said tax to be levied outside the ten-mill limitation allowed by law.

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	FOR THE TAX LEVY
<input type="checkbox"/>	AGAINST THE TAX LEVY

Passage of the Levy is an absolute necessity because it is the most economical solution to the city's present financial dilemma

Before City Council submitted the 3.2 levy to the voters --- the last drop in savings was squeezed from city operating costs --- even with the levy passing, operation of the city of Marion in 1936 and 1937 will be $60,000 less for each year than 1935. The levy will be assessed for the two years 1936 and 1937.

Passage of the 3.2 Mill Levy Will Permit

- Payment of $81,000 in past due accounts in the 1935 operating deficit.
- Restoration of city officials and employees pay from 55% to 85% of fixed salaries.
- Reemployment of four city patrolmen dismissed because of lacking funds.
- Maintenance of all city services, fire, police, sewage, street, garbage collection, etc. at 100%.
- Payment of city's share of material costs on numerous WPA projects.
- Fulfillment of city's contractual obligations for street lighting, fire hydrant rentals, etc., in 1936 and 1937.
- Operation of the city in 1936 and 1937 without a deficit.
- Establishment of the city on a Clear Cut "PAY AS IT GOES" basis.

Cost of Advertising and promoting the 3.2 Levy Campaign has been met by contributions from Civic-Minded Business Houses and Individuals--

Quiet Workman.

In concluding a tariff agreement with France—the thirteenth reciprocal pact now signed—Secretary of State Hull has added another quiet but important success to the credit side of his ledger. Working upon the necessity for lowering tariff barriers as a contribution to world recovery and peace, Secretary Hull quietly but effectively has gone about his task. By not repeating the Hawley-Smoot act and by vesting sharply from many other platform pledges, the administration has not evidenced any similar desire to adhere to an announced program.

Mr. Hull's own protest against further protective measures, the French reciprocal pact and promised publication of large-scale beneficiaries under present high tariffs all may serve to project the whole tariff question as a lively campaign issue. Consequently, some guns will be trained upon the secretary's policy in the matter. Organized labor and certain benefitting branches of industry assuredly will find reason for shipping at a policy which promises to increase American imports.

On the other hand, there will be more than a handy arsenal of ammunition from which Mr. Hull and his supporters can shell the enemy. Undoubtedly he will point to the advantage of making concessions for French shipments of perfumes, wines and the like when this country in turn is aided in its attempt to find a market for some industrial surpluses.

Certainly, though, the pros and cons will air all sides of the issue in the coming campaign. Meanwhile, Mr. Hull may be applauded for announcing a program and sticking to it. He must feel somewhat lonely in Washington these days.

Counting The Cost.

Approval by the house appropriations committee of a bill appropriating $142,000,000 for work relief in the next fiscal year is an occasion to recall the original outline of WPA.

President Roosevelt requested $480,000,000 for relief in his budget message of January, 1935. All but $80,000,000 was to be spent for work relief; the remainder was to cover direct relief until the new work relief policy became effective.

At the beginning of 1935, such a sum of money for relief was amazingly large and, supposedly, therefore, more than ample. It was the popular idea at the time that there would be no further appropriation. The $480,000,000 was to be the final broadside fired against unemployment.

Consequently, a request for an additional appropriation by the current session of congress proved irritating. In counting the cost of work relief the country had taken $4,000,000,000 as its standard of measurement. It wanted to think no more would be needed.

Provided congress grants $142,000,000, the federal government will have a little more than $3,000,000,000 for work relief in the year starting next July 1, due to possession of an unexpended balance from the original appropriation. However, it has been admitted more or less frankly by officials that a further appropriation may be needed, unless private employment absorbs a large portion of the unemployed currently dependent on WPA wages. All expenditure expectations have been exceeded.

The prospect is disturbing. Americans would like to look the other way, and many of them, unfortunately, are doing so. Others are being even more evasive by contending that relief itself is unnecessary. What is required to force the nation to look honestly and squarely at the fact that unemployment is a real, not an imaginative ailment, remains to be seen. The cost of providing relief should do it, but instead it merely is one more unpleasant thing to be avoided if possible and, if not, to be cursed.

The Art of "Coming Out."

When a man or woman of importance—one who can sway votes—decides to favor one candidate over another, he is said to have "come out" for that candidate. It is a fine art. Properly done, it can be impressive.

Sometimes, though, it isn't exactly a happy procedure. Occasionally a personage whose opinion bears weight among lesser personages is forced to "come out" involuntarily. In such cases there's not much art about it.

In fact, instead of "coming out," the personage really is "smoked out." He is urged to make up his mind and go on record one way or the other so his followers will know whether to keep on following or find a new leader.

These comments are moved by the interesting information that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has "come out" in favor of President Roosevelt's reelection. Certain circumstances of the performance suggest Mr. Green might have liked to make up his mind more slowly.

A few days previously he had called on the A. F. of L. to refrain from affiliating with political organizations until the organization's non-partisan committee had made official recommendations. Furthermore, it is generally conceded that if Mr. Roosevelt is reelected Mr. Green and some of his close friends will have trouble keeping their practice in competition with John Lewis and his close friends.

In short, Mr. Green was sufficient of art in his demonstration of how to "come out" for a political candidate.

Mother's Day.

The greeting cards which design mothers on this Mother's day almost certainly will picture a gray-haired, bespectacled old lady sitting reflectively in a rocking chair, or else busily plying the darning needle on the family sock. It is fitting that Americans enhance their love and reverence for motherhood in such evocative symbolism.

Yet it is worth remembering there are millions of American mothers who are not yet gray-haired, millions who yet are rearing their sons and daughters through school. The gray-haired ladies have done their work well. It is to be hoped that fortune and their own children deal with them generously and graciously. But the tasks of life still challenge the young mothers.

It is upon these modern mothers, whose own childhood was wrecked by the scourges of war torn years, that grave responsibilities devolve. Today, there is the distant threat of war to harass them once more. There is the even closer blight of economic distress to menace their peace of mind, to test their courage and endurance to the utmost. As fathers have been struck by the scourge of unemployment, often it has been the bravery and zeal for living of these modern mothers that have infused the family spirit, that have infused the breath of life and hope into the family group.

As tribute is paid to all mothers, a special garland must be set aside for these modern mothers who have fought the good fight against the disillusionment of the last six or seven years. Skepticism—old fogies, perhaps—frequently have seized upon superficialities, with which mothers of today often surround themselves, as evidence of the decadence of the race. But the record stands. Members of the post-war era have proved themselves worthy.

"Intrepid, Irrevocable Decision"

It remains to be seen whether the experts who insist Ethiopia is not worth colonizing have mislaid like their brothers who said Italy's men of destiny would get mixed in the mud.

Whether Mussolini hopes to gain prestige or riches from his conquest, it is certain he means to hold on with both hands. In a flamboyant victory speech he announced that civilization had been brought to a backward country, that peace now was reestablished and that "we are ready to defend our shining victory with the same intrepid, irrevocable decision which achieved it."

Some observers insist that the province of Ogaden, at least, is rich cotton country, although it may be reflected the world is not experiencing a lack of that commodity. Some point out that certain sections of Ethiopia are ideal grazing country. In other parts, wheat, barley, maize and various grains can be grown profitably. Again, it may be realized there is no world deficiency of grain.

The majority of commentators, however, seem agreed that, if any wealth reservoirs can be tapped, probably they will be agricultural. Yet the weight of opinion suggests the soil is not as fertile as Mussolini's glib phrase making pictured it. Moreover, rumors about possible oil lands have not been verified, although several non-Ethiopian business interests have made tests.

Since Mussolini now will have to compel Italy to pay the bill for civilizing Hailo Selassie's empire, the possibility of the Ethiopian harvest yielding economic fruit is important. Since the experts have so consistently guessed wrong up to date, perhaps the law of averages will uphold them now. If it does, mounting taxes will aggravate, not ameliorate, the Duce's domestic problems.

Nebraska Tax Boost Bears Inspection

State Calls Itself "Taxpayers' Paradise." Yet Federal Government Pours Millions Into Area for Relief.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Nebraska's published boast that it is the "taxpayers' paradise" because the state government has no public debt, no sales tax and no income tax, awakens little enthusiasm in new deal quarters at the moment. This is because such a boast is inopportune, if not irrelevant, when it is related to the fact that Nebraska received about $4,450,000 more in federal relief money in the last year for which figures are available than Nebraska paid the federal government in taxes.

As a matter of fact, Nebraska disbursed $791 per family of federal relief money and contributed $239 of state and local funds during 1933, 1934 and 1935. Iowa, on the other hand, which is just next door to Nebraska and has about the same per capita wealth, based on recent census figures, paid 340% of her own funds per family and in a was supplemented by only 355% of federal money.

Indeed, Iowa received in relief money from the federal government just a slight amount above the sums paid by Iowa citizens in federal taxes.

Just why Iowa should be able to balance her accounts with the federal government on relief matters and Nebraska should get an excess of $4,000,000 of money from the federal government, derived from citizens of other states that do not consider themselves in a "taxpayers' paradise," has been difficult to understand till one read The Associated Press dispatch from Lincoln, Neb., today telling how the state hasn't borrowed any money, or taxed its own citizens by either an income tax or a sales tax.

It is disclosed also that Nebraska, by a provision in her constitution, has been forbidden to borrow. During the last three years, the state of Nebraska, however, has had an opportunity to place an amendment before its people or at least to put on taxes that would have spared it the necessity of borrowing to pay relief.

Nebraska is one of the states that received a sizeable sum from the AAA in fact about $27,000,000, so that the purchasing power of the state has been maintained by federal aid, and yet the state itself contributed in taxes $4,000,000 less than was paid for individual relief by the federal government, entirely apart from the AAA benefits.

All these facts are coming to light at a time when some method of keeping down federal relief expenses is being discussed in congress in connection with the forthcoming appropriations bill. It is contended by critics of the new deal policy that the administrative weakness of the federal government has been in granting aid to states that were wealthy enough to take care of relief from their own resources.

This phase of the problem of Federal Administrator Hopkins has been conceded by that official on many occasions to be perplexing. He has realized that the withholding of relief unless a state did its part only added to the grief of the federal authorities who were charged with being hard-hearted or niggardly if they refused to grant aid.

But the truth is that, whenever the federal government takes over a national function in which states should participate, the tendency of the latter is to shift the burden to Washington. It is to the advantage of a state like Nebraska to double the burden of the federal government. This is because representatives in congress from the agricultural states often raise a smoke-screen about the alleged wealth of large corporations and really gain political strength at home by insisting that the "rich" in the bigger states of the east can pay the bill.

This was not so dangerous a philosophy as long as taxes were low in rate, but now that they have reached the confiscatory point and it is apparent that the budget cannot be balanced even if 100 per cent of all incomes in the United States above $50,000 a year were confiscated, the menace to the federal credit situation is becoming more and more a subject of widespread discussion.

It would not be surprising if the responsibilities of each state to the federal government and the matter of considerable controversy in the present political campaign, especially as the people of New York and New England and Illinois and other states that are paying in large sums to the federal treasury in excess of payments to them for relief come to understand that they are paying out money to enable about 20 or more states to refuse to assess their citizens either by loans or taxes to pay for relief expenses incurred within their own boundaries.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 9, 1926.

Mrs. John McGrath, 72, died at her home on Oak street.

The Marion Athletics defeated the Sandusky Erie Cords at Lincoln park, 3 to 0. Main, pitching for Marion, allowed only three hits and was given a flawless support.

The Prospect baseball team opened its season with a heart of Ohio league by defeating Richmond at Prospect, 7-5. Lawrence, Roachberry and Benner made up the battery for Richmond and King and Herring for Prospect.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, May 9, 1916.

The National Guard of three states was summoned to do patrol duty on the Mexican border as a result of increasing seriousness of the situation resulting from raids on American territory by Mexican bandits. Without a dissenting voice, the United States senate voted to insist upon a regular army of 250,000 men and a federal volunteer army plan.

It was announced that 10 seniors would graduate from St. Mary's parochial high school this year and that the commencement exercises would take place June 11.

L. R. Burdge, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., reported at the annual meeting of the trustees that the Y. membership was 671, a gain of 82 over the preceding year. Officers were elected with C. Z. Zookman as president.

City Auditor Frank J. Weber submitted his annual report for the year ended Dec. 31, 1935. It showed that at the close of the year there was a balance of $8,645 in the treasury for general purposes. The general bonded debt at that time was $304,803.

The Druids circle elected and installed officers headed by Mrs. Fred Weber as president.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Democratic move to line up a business bloc for the campaign seems to be in the hands of no less an authority than the President himself. The White House guest list on three successive days this week included the following:

First day—Bernard Baruch, shrewdest of financiers, and, for lunch, Owen D. Young, who has been on more boards of directors than J. P. Morgan.

Second day—(For lunch) Roy W. Howard, go-getting business operator of a newspaper chain and President Roosevelt's choice as recipient of the letter last fall announcing a business breathing spell.

Third day—Walter P. Chrysler (for lunch), motor mogul. Gentlemen of this class have seldom been seen around the White House during the last few months. Their visits now have passed almost unnoticed, because they come singly and decline to disclose whom they are in the President's mind. They do not reach for headlines.

The fact seems to be, however, that the President is consulting these and other big business men to see what they have on their minds. The Democratic platform is the process of construction. The campaign is about to open. He is laying the structure, for the ground work, for the ground work already has been laid by others of a business men's committee-for-Roosevelt.

Slidin' Through
The mystery of Postmaster General Farley doubling in brass is beginning to sift down to an understandable outline.

Outsiders may not be able to understand how he can continue as postmaster general, chairman of the Democratic national and New York state committees in the face of Mr. Roosevelt's edict against any one holding an official and political job at the same time, but insiders do.

Reports that he will relinquish the P. M. G. job have been planted officially a dozen times. The latest such report is that it will happen after the national convention. The truth is he is no nearer the exit now than when the reports first were started.

Buckling

The situation is this. Mr. Farley is running the campaign. He is being given full, free rein by the White House. Anything he wants to do is all right. You can depend on it that no pressure has or will be exerted by the White House to make Mr. Farley get out of the cabinet. He can choose his own time and his own jobs.

Mr. Farley likes all his jobs. No popular clamor to make him conform to policy is now evident. None is expected. Until some arseless he will hang on.

In one sentence, Mr. Farley is more important right now than the policy.

Solution?

A few less Democratic authorities are driving for a modification of the tax bill. They want the corporate earnings distribution plan adopted gradually during the next five years, instead of all at once. They would write a provision into the present bill retaining the existing corporation tax for next year and imposing an earnings distribution tax on top of it, which would increase in severity during the next few years.

Such a satisfactory solution of the present situation will not be adopted, however, unless Mr. Roosevelt and the treasury decide to give in. There is no indication that they will and every present indication that they will not.

Nearly all the tax experts outside the treasury believe the bill is a technical mess, but that will make no difference as long as Gen. Farley is on guard in the Senate to keep the boys in line.

Mr. Garbo
Special Agent Louis Glavis walked out of his first conference with Mr. Roosevelt at the White House, announcing, "I make no announcements. I do not grant interviews."

Had his resignation been demanded? Did the President say the special agents of various government departments were going too far? What about Senator Bone's threat to investigate such investigators as Mr. Glavis, head of the fakes spy department? To all, Mr. Glavis shuttled his head back and forth silently, negatively, by all not very patiently.

Senatorial betting is 2 to 1 that there will be less spy-talk immediately.

Calm

Less activity is noticeable around the senatorial headquarters of Chairman Black of the lobby investigating committee. Recent visitors to the offices report he was still. They did not even hear a typewriter clicking, how long that will last is a matter of speculation. It is rather generally said on the inside, however, that the Black committee will be kept under wraps during the campaign, if possible.

Italy Breaks British-French Monopoly in Africa.

By DEVOT FRANCIA
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of Europe's three great powers succeeded this week in breaking a virtual monopoly of control over Africa which England and France have enjoyed since the close of the great war.

Apart from the diplomatic partition created by Italy's occupation of Addis Ababa, capital of the absolute monarchy of Ethiopia, the fact that Premier Mussolini had added to his colonial empire on the dark continent an area of 350,000 square miles with an estimated population of 10,000,000.

Britain was mortified by a diplomatic defeat. France was in a quandary when Italy seized control of most of the French-owned Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway.

But the fact remained that another nation had obtained a more secure foothold on a continent to which Europe is turning increasing attention as an area of potential markets and for colonization purposes.

Unseated Monarch.

Victory was sudden, to the surprise of many military experts. Ethiopia's defense collapsed. Emperor Haile Selassie fled to Haifa, Palestine. Addis Ababa was ravaged by riots and fire. Unofficial estimates had 500 dead in the disorders. The wife of an American missionary was killed.

More than one signpost pointed to a reconciliation with Germany against Italy, to a reestablishment eventually of the Franco-British "Sicra front."

Commentators wondered whether Italy's victory, scuttling hopes of making Germany abide by treaty obligations, would lead the Nazi dictatorship to attempt reclamation of the million square miles of African colonies lost under the mandate of Versailles.

California Ballots

The Democratic high command was jubilant this week. On the heels of a Democratic vote a third greater than the Republican in the California presidential preference primary, the party claimed its largest nationwide registration in history.

President Roosevelt picked up 20 national votes in California, including Alabama, Maryland and South Dakota, but his critics made much of what they termed the "protest vote" against him in Maryland where Col. Henry Breckinridge opposed him. There the President's majority was better than 5 to 1.

The California primary brought to a head a Republican intra-party squabble for control. The "regular" faction, comprising some 60 per cent of the vote, pledged to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and backed by William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, and Gov. Frank Merriam, Democratic regulars swamped Upton Sinclair's production-farmers and the McGroarty Townsends.

Unofficial returns indicated a South Dakota victory for Landon.

Sen. Borah of Idaho in their first rank belt fight for delegates.

Ninth inning Argument.

Racing the calendar against political convention time, congress the week approached a climax in a tussle over relief.

The Roosevelt $1,500,000,000 relief bill was reported favorably to the house for floor argument amid a growing feud between Interior Secretary Ickes and Relief Administrator Hopkins over the spending of relief funds. Republileans demanded direct grants to states for relief purposes to take such matters "out of politics." A house bloc sought to earmark several hundred thousand dollars of the sum for PWA projects over the President's objections.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, meeting in Columbus, O., adopted a plan for union with the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church.

The second ballot of the French elections emphasized the previous victory of the left parties; commentators said it augured well for peace and disarmament.

THE ASHTABULA WRECK

One must be old enough to recall the Philadelphia exposition. He recalls the Ashtabula railroad disaster, for it occurred the mid of Dec. 29, 1876. It was bitter cold and the westbound Pacific express was driving into the fur of a heavy snowstorm.

Counting passengers and crew there were 158 persons on board. The Lake Shore railroad crossed the Ashtabula at that place, an iron span of 165 feet, supported at each end upon a stone pier. The head engine had reached the abutment when the bridge crashed; the second engine and express cars rested upon wreckage at the west end, while the cars of the rest of the train crashed into the channel of the Ashtabula river.

The wooden cars caught fire and 80 persons perished in the wreck.

$16,500 Issue Under Carey Act Goes to Cincinnati Financial House.

When the county board of commissioners Friday sold $16,500 worth of poor relief bonds to the investment firm of Seasegood & May, of Cincinnati, after the issue was refused by a Cleveland firm that was the high bidder when the bonds were first offered for sale last March 30.

The bonds, dated from March 1 of this year, were issued by the county under the Carey act to provide funds to help finance direct relief in the county. C. E. Willoughby, clerk of the board of commissioners, said the board was notified by the state treasurer that they could legally issue the $16,500 in bonds and that county auditor Harry V. Mount also had informed the commissioners the issue is legal.

When the transcript of the issue was returned from the Cleveland firm it was immediately forwarded to Seasegood & May, Willoughby said, and an explanation of the refusal was given.

The Marion office of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co. managed by E. G. Siefert will take part next week in the observance of National Life Insurance week.

Life insurance companies all over the United States have prepared an elaborate program for the observance of this year. The slogan of Life Insurance week, "The sooner you plan your future, the better your future will be," has been taken to heart by millions of Americans. Mr. Siefert said today in discussing the annual observance, "During the last five years of deep depression more than $15,000,000,000 of new insurance protection has been contracted for every year. Policies with a face value of more than one hundred billion dollars are in effect this year," he said.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN CHAUFFEUR'S LAW

State Auto Association Submits Request to Governor and Legislature.

The Ohio State Automobile association, through its president, Sen. Frank E. Whittemore of Akron, floor leader of the Ohio senate, and Charles C. Jones, the association's executive secretary, formerly requested Gov. Martin L. Davey to present a special message to the Ohio legislature, at its next session recommending amendment of the chauffeur's law, as that drivers of trucks, buses, delivery wagons, taxis and all chauffeurs who work for "hires" will not be compelled to take out another license to drive after July 1, but rather that the present license they have be extended to Oct. 1.

In requesting the governor and the legislature to take steps to bring about such amendment to the present law, the association calls attention to the fact that some 38,800 men who are thus employed will be compelled to pay $3 for renewal of their driving privilege, making a total of approximately $175,000.

The State Auto association, representing the automobile clubs over the state, was the sponsor for the new drivers' license law, which will become effective in Ohio Oct. 1. All drivers of automobiles and commercial vehicles will be required to obtain a driver's license. Chauffeurs under this law will only be required to pay 60 cents for their license instead of the present law requiring a fee of $3.

TAVERN PROPRIETOR HAS LONG TRAINING

Louis Paulson's 20 years' experience in the restaurant business, the majority of which were spent in Marion, has been largely responsible for making Paulson's Tavern at 219 West Center street one of the city's popular restaurants.

These years of experience enable Mr. Paulson to offer his patrons a varied menu and yet maintain reasonable prices. His experience too has taught him that those who dine at restaurants want attractive and comfortable surroundings. With this in mind he has decorated the Tavern in the modern manner and provided service to meet the desires of all.

With the spring paint-up and re-papering season well under way many Marion residents have provided themselves with the necessary requisites for this work at the wallpaper and paint store operated at 180 North Main street by the Centennial Coal and Supply Co.

Station Operated by C. K. Mercer, Former City Service Director.

The moto-sway system of automobile lubrication is used exclusively at the Hi-Speed super service station at the corner of Farming and North Main street operated by C. K. Mercer, former city service director.

Both hydraulic hoists in the station are equipped with the moto-sway device, which, although simple in itself, is considered one of the greatest advancements in lubrication equipment brought out in recent years.

With compressed air operated motors the moto-sway device gently rocks a car while station attendants are working on it, thereby making possible lubrication under actual road conditions.

Sticky spring leaves are broken loose to permit oil to penetrate to all the surface of the leaves. Shackles and joints are oiled, allowing grease to reach all wearing parts rather than one side only.

For the benefit of Marion motorists Mr. Mercer has listed some of the things a moto-sway system lubrication includes. The list follows:

Raise the body completely off the chassis with jacks which contact the frame at the center.

Pull the spring leaves back into their natural curl—we call it "temporary re-arching."

Put the proper lubricants where the actual wear takes place—the higher points of friction.

Do thorough lubrication, which means more than pumping grease through high pressure guns into open cavities.

Permit 100 per cent lubrication, apply grease while the car is in motion and while the weight of the body is on the moto-sway.

Locate all hidden body squeaks; we detect impaired parts.

Spread spring leaves to actually put lubricants between the leaves—not just smear on the outside.

Free frozen shackles without the aid of a "crow-bar." The use of a "crow-bar" is dangerous.

Examine and refill shock absorbers which can only be done with moto-sway.

Lubricate "knee-action" cars. As it works it's perfect when the parts are all in motion—"floating action."

Lubricate the "enclosed-springs." How else can you do it? Only with moto-sway.

Change your oil in the crankcase with moto-sway; all old oils and sediments come out thus keeping your hills away.

Make old cars ride like new ones.

Mother's Day Tea Held By Club At Edison School

THE ROOM occupied by the Home Economics department at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school was transformed into a spring garden yesterday afternoon when members of the De-Club entertained at a Mother's day tea from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Helen Jones, president of the club, welcomed the guests, and readings were given by Evelyn Bishop and Avalon Itelson. Dolores Hains entertained with a lap dance and Margaret Watts lap dance and made us feel that the world was sort of a neighborhood affair after all, by telling us New York is no different than Marion, and we all go to the same grocery store there just as you do here. We wonder just how far the young barons will go with their marvelous voice and what teacher has now in the making a future Caruso, Paderewski or a Garstin.

Guests were mothers and friends of the members and the school faculty. A color note of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations for the tea table where Miss Gern Nagel, club adviser and Helen Jones presided. The mothers were presented roses as favors.

Betty Ditcher, Frances White and Junius Ralston were in charge of the program. Hostess, Clara Reynolds, Opal Dutton and Dorothy Hailon, refreshments, Wanda Craven, Margaret Sharp and Maxine Frost, decorations, Evelyn Bishop, Margaret Watts, and Melinda Hailley, invitations, Virginia Thaxton and Betty Hough, miscellaneous.

A group of more than 30 friends entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. R. H. Stratton at Prospect for the pleasure of Mrs. Anthony Strasser, who was married recently. Games and contests were arranged by Miss Lucile Howland and Mrs. Carl Stelner.

A color note of pink and white predominated in the decorations and flowers, and for the refreshments. Mrs. T. H. Finebrook presented the honor guest with a gift of crystal glassware from the group. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Strasser was Miss Mabel Oswald of Prospect.

Just Things

CONVENTIONS
MARION was convention country this week. Three of them, but in a row but in a bunch. It was a busy week for Marion since the city was now to celebrate the musical world as were found on the programs of the state music teachers' association. If the shade of Chopin was hovering over the hall when Viktor Labunski played his Chopin program, it was wearing a smile of satisfaction. Chopin was played as we never expect to hear it again. Alberto Rimoni led in his work a lot of warm friendships and made us feel that the world was sort of a neighborhood affair after all, by telling us New York is no different than Marion, and we all go to the same grocery store there just as you do here. We wonder just how far the young barons will go with their marvelous voice and what teacher has now in the making a future Caruso, Paderewski or a Garstin.

GREETERS
A CONVENTION is just a convention to one Marion woman, and she's convinced now that after all, a welcome is a welcome whether you're in the right paw or not. Scheduled to be one of the greeters for the Ladies' auxiliary to the Railroad brotherhood here Tuesday, she scamped down to Hotel Harding, took her post and presented the keys of the city to a goodly number of visiting delegates to the Music Teachers' convention before she became aware that the badges didn't read like her "badge." It was one of those embarrassing moments you read about as she lost no time gathering her belongings and hling her half across the street to the Express hall where her own organization was meeting. It's a good joke now, and those who know her are willing to bet that no music teacher at the convention received a more cordial greeting than the ones met by this unofficial greeter during her stay on the job.

WOULD-BE ARTISTS
AND since it's music week here's a once upon a time tale: Long ago when music appreciation was confined to a family circle and long suffering friends and hands were for patriotic holidays and campaign parades only, the three juveniles in one particular family felt an urge to take their places in the musical field. One taxed the patience of the neighborhood with her beltings and hling her half across the street to the Express hall where her own organization was meeting. It's a good joke now, and those who know her are willing to bet that no music teacher at the convention received a more cordial greeting than the ones met by this unofficial greeter during her stay on the job.

Clothing Still Needed by Pair Who Lost Home

All that is lacking now to comfortably establish Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark in a home to replace their three-room cottage on Michigan avenue that burned to the ground Thursday, is clothing. Everything they had, home, furnishings, and all the clothes except those they were wearing at the time, were destroyed in the fire.

Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, who is taking a personal interest in the elderly couple because of the desperation of their plight, is deeply grateful to the Marion residents and to the business houses that have contributed enough household furnishings to furnish a home for the couple.

Mrs. Clark is a large woman. She wears size 42 dresses and coats, and the first Thursday left her with only a thin house dress.

Her husband, a WPA worker on city streets who wears size 44 clothing, has only the blue overalls in which he was working when he learned his worldly possessions were being destroyed.

WPA officials speak warmly of Mr. Clark's willingness to do any kind of work, of his earnestness to do the work well, according to Chief McFarland, and his fellow WPA workers think so highly of him that at next pay day they are going to contribute from their much-needed money to a fund for Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

Chief McFarland intimated yesterday that arrangements will be made to house Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their "new" household furnishings. He said that a few more

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Tense Evening

DICK sat beside Isabel, watching the progress of "The Black Swan." It was a typical Web play, written in a minor key and asking as the curtain fell, because America was seeking answers now, not questions.

On Dick's other side sat Elinor, Gage Seymour next to her. Only a few minutes before Isabel had whispered to Dick, "So that's the new sister?" He had followed her gaze to one of the lower boxes where Rupert was entering with Hope. Hope was in a slim gown of diamonds in her hair. She looked regal and dark and lovely.

When he could, Dick glanced at Elinor. Elinor's eyes were on the stage, but she was pale and Dick knew that she, too, had seen Isabel whisper. "She has on Elinor's bracelets," and Dick noticed that Hope's rounded olive arm resting on the railing of the box was bound with something that glittered. There was glitter too, on her breast—Elinor's necklace.

Hope appeared to follow the play with interest now and then, and as the curtain fell, she and Rupert conferred, sharing one program. They did not leave the box during the intermission and when the final lights came on they were gone.

"He's taking her somewhere to dance," Dick thought, and wondered where.

They went themselves to the Continental Grill where Isabel and Seymour did most of the talking. Dick felt abstracted, and sorry, in spite of himself, for Elinor, who seemed to be giving a demonstration of how to be happy though drowning.

Had she really cared so much? Or was it simply her pride, her vanity that was hurt? Every body who had come back to town, everybody who counted, had been there tonight. They had all seen Rupert and his bride.

EAST CENTER PHONE 7112

He had waited with him that night in the main tent of Marion's Women Show.

He told her all he wanted her to know.

"Strange," she said. "Strange."

"How women can blossom out," she explained. "How they can be like flowers."

He asked what she meant.

Hope's origin was all right.

"Of course. But she doesn't look like a person's child. Elinor?"

He agreed that Elinor was different. Elinor had always seemed like something from a stained-glass window.

"What's her name?" asked Isabel, and when he had told her, she remembered now. I liked it when I read it in the paper. I forgot it so soon as I saw her tonight. She ought to be named something else, something exotic and dangerous. Guinevere or Pyrrhus or Salome.

"How suits her?"

He was not certain of this, but he had no liking for Isabel's unimpeachable christenings.

But, said Isabel, you can't imagine men fighting a duel over anybody named Hope. Call her Carmen, then. Something Spanish. She may be Spanish maybe she's coming from El Paso."

It may be, agreed Dick. Was Isabel trying to pump him? Did she suspect something, irregular in the marriage, doubt his account of Hope?

He added:

"She may be that, and everything else you suspect, and still be true to form as a person's child. They aren't always stained-glass windows are they? As a matter of fact, she's fine, and Rupert is luck. You'll like her. He told her smiling at him in the dark."

Hope looked regal and dark and lovely.

"Tell me about her, Dick. Tell me all about her."

Isabel's breathless query on the way home.

"Where's she from? What's she like?"

He smiled, thinking how different would have been her interest if

He left Isabel at her door, and rode toward home, cursing the intuitions of women. Riding, he presently forgot Isabel, finding that her words still lingered in his mind, less as sounds he had just heard than as the echo of something else. Where had words like those been said to him before?

"His fight for her," she made trouble wherever there are fools," Madame Chowdhury. He laughed remembering.

Poor Hope. He saw her again standing as she had stood last night, the big book of the Jorie family in her arms. "My shield is scarred." And a moment later in the door of the tower-room, the enormous had behind her.

Little, still, alone. She had been different tonight. Taller, dazzling, regal. Just before she had sat down Rupert had taken a black velvet cloak from her shoulders. She had stepped from it, snow-white, shining.

How women picked on one another! Isabel had seen Hope only as she was tonight. Madame Chowdhury had known her solely in that wretched life of the circus. Only he, perhaps, saw her as she was. Her shield was scarred.

Dick stopped short, nearing those gates. It was a clear night as that other night had been, a full moon hanging low. As on that other night he saw—or thought he saw—a woman's figure standing in the gates. A mere instant she stood there, wrapped in a dark cloak.

There was the flash of a white arm as she raised it in what seemed to be a signal. Then she had disappeared, melted back into the shadow of the beeches beside the gate.

Dick begins a wild chase.

Monday.

He left Isabel at her door, and rode toward home, cursing the intuitions of women. Riding, he presently forgot Isabel, finding that her words still lingered in his mind, less as sounds he had just heard than as the echo of something else. Where had words like those been said to him before?

Poor Hope. He saw her again standing as she had stood last night, the big book of the Jorie family in her arms. "My shield is scarred." And a moment later in the door of the tower-room, the enormous had behind her.

Little, still, alone. She had been different tonight. Taller, dazzling, regal. Just before she had sat down Rupert had taken a black velvet cloak from her shoulders. She had stepped from it, snow-white, shining.

How women picked on one another! Isabel had seen Hope only as she was tonight. Madame Chowdhury had known her solely in that wretched life of the circus. Only he, perhaps, saw her as she was. Her shield was scarred.

Dick stopped short, nearing those gates. It was a clear night as that other night had been, a full moon hanging low. As on that other night he saw—or thought he saw—a woman's figure standing in the gates. A mere instant she stood there, wrapped in a dark cloak.

There was the flash of a white arm as she raised it in what seemed to be a signal. Then she had disappeared, melted back into the shadow of the beeches beside the gate.

Dick begins a wild chase.

Monday.

Married Comrades

BY ADRIE GARRISON

Secret Message Is From Father's Twin Brother.

LILLIAN shot a surprised and disapproving glance at me as I asked her if the code message which we had translated, and which she was collecting into readable words, told of anything happening to my father.

"No, it does not," she said crossly, reassuring me even as she scolded me. "But you cheated! I told you to close your eyes until I told you I had this ready. But you must have peeked from under and read my poker face unpokerly. Suppose it had been something really bad! All my plan to save you the first shock of finding out things would have evaporated into something thinner than air."

"I know," I said contritely, "and I'm awfully sorry. And I'll wait as meekly as possible, now that I know nothing has happened to father, until you choose to tell me what is in the code. My curiosity is awfully gnawed."

"Well, seeing that you did the most of the decoding, I may let you unchain your curiosity," she said. "After all—"

She broke off her foolery abruptly and held out the paper to me. "Read it," she said. "There's nothing in it to alarm you, although it's stuffed full of melodrama."

I took the paper on which she had assembled into sentences the separate words we had decoded, and glanced first at the signature. "Why? It's not from my father at all," I exclaimed, as I saw the name Chester Spencer instead of Charles Spencer. "But the handwriting of the signature is exactly like that of my father."

"Your father told you that this twin brother has impersonated him before this, didn't he?" she asked, and I realized that she must know as much—or more—than I about this venture of my father's. "Yes, he did," I answered, "and I suppose, of course, that would involve a clever imitation of father's cigraphy." Then I read on:

"This is Wednesday, the letter began. Two nights from now, Friday night, at midnight, I shall arrive at a farmhouse if no accident. Leave kitchen door unlocked and slightly ajar, but have it guarded. Have someone just inside door so that password can be given.

"Think there will be no trouble, but if I should be followed, look out for equals. Be sure your guards have weapons and use them if necessary."

"The password is 'Fortune.' Unless that is given you, do not admit anyone who comes."

"Remember, Friday, at midnight!"

"Chester Spencer."

I caught a brilliant exclamation back just in time that I would not for worlds have let Lillian hear. But inside I was singing for joy because the date of my uncle's arrival had been fixed for Friday night. That gave me two whole days before his arrival.

Welcome Requite

"You look exactly like the famous or infamous cat that swallowed the canary," Lillian said shrewdly. "I suppose it's a relief to know just when the blow is going to fall, but I didn't exactly expect you to look pleased at this communication. I thought you dreaded the advent of this unknown uncle."

"Oh, but I do," I said vehemently. "I can't tell you how much I loathe the idea. But I am pleased that I have two more days' reprieve, and that I know the exact time of his arrival. There are several things I want to do before he gets here, and I don't dare get at them because I felt that he might arrive at any minute. Now I can make definite plans."

"Your explanation of your pleased grin is satisfactory," she said with a laugh, then added an idle, indirect query that stiffened me suddenly into wary watchfulness.

"I suppose, Mrs. Ticer brought you word of the waiting junkman," she said. "Wouldn't your mother-in-law have made an ascension flight if she had seen her?"

Membership in Mortar Board is one of the highest honors the university can confer on a woman student.

Miss Gracely is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and has been active in campus activities particularly in dramatics and journalism. She is a new editor of the Transcriber, campus newspaper. Another of those "capped" yesterday is Miss Rachel Shippe of Delaware, also of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Your Health

BY DR. R. A. COPELAND

Therapy.

RECENTLY I MADE a tour of inspection of a new hospital. An eminent judge accompanied me on this trip. As we walked down the long spacious corridors, we passed a door labeled "Physical Therapy." The judge stopped to inquire just what is meant by physical therapy. In physical therapy, such natural forces as light, heat, air, water, exercise and massage, are used in the treatment and cure of certain ailments. It is not a new method of treatment by any means, having been used for many centuries. In fact, a great deal of our present knowledge in this line dates back to the ancients. This form of therapy was used before modern drugs were known.

It has always been known that the sunlight has a beneficial action on the body. But it is only within recent years that we learned that this benefit is obtained by the radiation of "ultra-violet" rays. Today it is possible to receive ultra-violet light at all times of the year. This is accomplished by means of the carbon arc and quartz lamp, more commonly known as the "sun lamp."

This form of treatment has been especially beneficial in certain chronic diseases. The light appears to increase the lime and phosphorus content of the blood. It helps the white blood cells to do their duty, and brings about a protective pigmentation of the skin. It is used in the treatment of certain forms of tuberculosis, skin diseases like acne, vitamin deficiency diseases and many other distasteful ailments.

Hydrotherapy is another form of physical therapy. It includes the use of temperature regulation by means of hot or cold water. It is used to produce certain effects within the body that will aid the circulation and nutrition. The treatment is given in the form of tub baths, swimming pools, douches, sprays or vapors.

As a rule, hydrotherapy is followed by another form of physical therapy known as massage. This is indeed one of the most ancient forms of therapy. It is valuable for restoring the bones, joints and muscles after some serious accident. It is especially recommended for chronic invalids and others who are confined to bed and unable to obtain active exercise.

If you have trouble consult with your doctor. He alone is in a position to determine whether a physical therapy will help you overcome your present disability.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send addressed stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland in care of this newspaper.

Robert M. La Follette

By the Associated Press

Senator Bob La Follette of Wisconsin is a political enigma just now. He is expected to throw his progressive support to President Roosevelt in the '36 campaign as he did in '32, but has not so committed himself. Senator Bob, like Brother Phil, the Wisconsin governor, has remained aloof from national third party discussions although a close follower in Wisconsin. Representative Thomas Amble, chairman of the American Commonwealth Federation. Even a French nomination by the Republicans probably would not sway the La Follette from support of President Roosevelt. They are friendly with the little senator and share many of his views, but are not likely to forget that he remained in the G.O.P. fold in 1924 when their father, the late Senator Robert M. La Follette Sr., ran for president as a Progressive.

CONTRACTORS TOLD TO RESUME WORK

Delaware City Officials Act After City Hall Strike Conference.

DELAWARE, O., May 2—"Go ahead and finish the job" was the ultimatum officials handed down to contractors on the new Delaware city hall following a conference between members of the city hall building commission, representatives of the Columbus Building Trades council, and contractors, endeavoring to end peacefully the strike of union leaders on the project.

The strike was called Tuesday by union leaders "to preserve the principles of unionism." The preservation was threatened, they said, by the employment by George W. Wing, electrical contractor of Worthington, of a non-union mechanic on the project.

George A. Strain, business representative of the Columbus Building Trades Council, warned that striking union workers will not return to their jobs as long as a non-union labor condition exists, and suggested that Wing's contract be cancelled and the contract awarded to a "responsible contractor."

WHO OWNS THE BANKS?

Many people have a confused impression about bank ownership. Who could own the banks, they reason, but people of great wealth? Surely bank ownership must be concentrated in the hands of a comparatively few capitalists! Yet such an assumption is far removed from the actual facts. In Ohio—and throughout the United States—it is the people themselves who own the banking system. In Ohio alone there are more than 64,000 bank stockholders. The situation is similar in other states. The reason for this popular ownership, which is in striking contrast with other countries, is not hard to find. Here in the United States we have a banking system organized and functioning on the broad basis of rendering service to the many instead of the few.

Here a convenient, many-sided banking service is available to everyone.

NEWS OF STAGE AND SCREEN—MARION THEATER PROGRAMS

Charlie Chaplin's New Picture On Palace Bill

"Modern Times" Booked Here Last Three Days of Week; Stage Show Opens Sunday.

The most important cinematic news in the Palace line-up for the coming week is the coming of Charlie Chaplin's long-awaited comedy, "Modern Times," which will be on the screen Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A stage-show, "Till We Meet Again," and a Chester Morris picture, "The Three Godfathers," will be on the Sunday-Monday bill, and the feature the next two days will be "Till We Meet Again," a romantic offering with Herbert Marshall and Gertrude Michael in the leading roles.

Chaplin wrote, produced and directed "Modern Times," as well as playing the starring role and being responsible for the music. Almost two years in production, his first picture in almost five years is also his most pretentious.

Firm in his belief in the pantomime of the silent films, there is no dialogue in "Modern Times," but there are some novel sound effects. Chaplin is again the familiar little figure in the big shoes and baggy trousers, plunged into the relatively complex environment of a big industrial city, a factory worker with a talent for getting out of jobs and into jail.

The girl, a gamine of the waterfront to whom Chaplin plays knight errant, is played by Paulette Goddard, his new leading lady and the young woman with whom his name has been linked romantically for several years. Hank Mann and Chester Conklin, both of the old-time Keystone cop brigade of the early days of moving pictures are in "Modern Times." Conklin is a mechanic and Mann as one of three burglars.

Men are prompted by patriotism alone to become secret service agents, but women enter the intelligence departments solely through love or excitement, adventure and money.

Walter Thiele, one of Germany's leading spies during the World War who appears in a supporting role in "Till We Meet Again." The story of the picture is based upon any activities in the war and peace periods.

FOSTER LIFE STORY IN FILM

Great American Composer Provides Theme for Picture Coming Here.

One of the really fine motion pictures of the last several seasons, "Harmony Lane," heads the slate of six features booked for showings at the State theater in the week beginning Sunday. "Harmony Lane" will be seen Tuesday and Wednesday.

Other stand-outs at the State during the week include a Ginger Rogers vehicle and "Hitch Hike To Heaven," featuring the well-known character actress from the legitimate stage, Henrietta Crossman.

A truly great picture that features a crack cast, "Harmony Lane," tells the life story of Stephen Collins Foster, the musical genius who wrote many of America's most beloved melodies.

Douglas Montgomery turns in a flawless performance in the role of Stephen Foster. Montgomery, a Theater Guild star, will be remembered for his screen work in "Little Women," "Waterloo Bridge" and others.

Heading the excellent supporting cast are Evelyn Venable, Adrienne Ames, Joseph Cawthorn, William Frawley, David Torrence, Gilbert Emery and Cora Sue Stone.

"Let me write the songs of a nation and I care not who makes its laws," Stephen C. Foster once said. Among the lasting Foster melodies revived in "Harmony Lane" are "My Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe," "Old Susanna," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Massa in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Beautiful Dreamer," and several others. On the same bill with the Foster life story is "Hitch Hike To Heaven," featuring Henrietta Crossman, Russell Gleason, Herbert Rawlinson, Anita Page and Polly Ann Young. It is a back stage drama that critics have lauded for the fine performance of Miss Crossman.

The Ginger Rogers film, "A Shriek in the Night," is a comedy-mystery dealing with a series of mysterious murders, with virtually all the action confined within the walls of an exclusive New York apartment house. The picture, which heads a double bill Sunday and Monday, boasts a supporting cast that includes the popular Lyle Talbot, Parnell Pratt, Louise Beaver, Harvey Clark and Lillian Harman. On the same program is a new Tim McCoy western thriller, "Roarin' Guns." Assisting Tim are Wheeler Oakman, Red Lease and Rosalinda Price.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the State will offer a Peter B. Kyne story, "The Fighting Coward," with Ray Walker, William Farnum and Clara Kimball Young. The film is based on Kyne's "The Last Assignment," and tells of a police detective confronted with the necessity of capturing a murderer whom he has discovered to be his father. Mentally tormented, the officer is unable to betray his father, and sacrifices position, sweetheart and his own self-interest in order to protect the man who gave him life. The developments that follow make an absorbing police-underworld drama. On the same bill is a John Wayne western, "Westward Ho."

HARRY CLARK STAGE SHOW COMING HERE
"Ritz Carlton Blondes" Billed at Palace for Sunday and Monday.

Harry Clark produced the stage show, "Ritz Carlton Blondes," which will be on the Palace stage Sunday and Monday. The blondes were selected, according to the producer, not only for their Jean Harlow looks, but for their ability to wear beautiful gowns and their deftness in executing the intricate steps in the various production numbers.

Jack and Flo McBride will be seen in Jack's own comedy skit, "What Next," in which he is supported by a flock of stooges for his crazy comedy. Flo Clark, "Blue Scream of Blues," sings songs as they are sung down south, and acts as a foil for McBride.

THE BIG HOUSE

One of Outstanding Pictures To Return Here; Bing Crosby Film Listed.

A gripping picture, a film with a story of terror drama and high action is "The Big House," which will return to the Marion screen on Monday and Tuesday with another picture, Bing Crosby's "The Prisoner of Shark Island." In which the picture, "The Big House," which was made a few years ago when prison plots were rife, and investigators brought to light almost unbelievable conditions in some of the overcrowded institutions. It shows underlying causes of prison crime, shows one in which a thousand men participate and follows through three prisoners, one a gangster, one a forger who finds redemption in the midst and one a man whose soul is wrecked by association with hardened criminals. It's a "don't miss it" picture. Joan Bennett, Mary Boland, Norma Todd and Lynne Overman support Crosby in his comedy about a struggling young singer who is erroneously taken for a playboy.

The Tuesday-Wednesday feature picture will be "Accent on Youth," a good picture with Herbert Marshall and Sylvia Sydney sharing starring honors, and "Trail of Terror," a Bob Steele western. The comedy of "Accent on Youth" revolves around Marshall, a successful playwright who fears that he can no longer find true love now that he's past the 40-year mark. The picture has been in Marion before, and it's a witty, gay bit of entertainment. "Annapolis Farewell," a dramatic story of the U. S. Naval Academy, that was well received when first shown in Marion, will return for the Thursday through Saturday program. A chapter of the Frank Merriwell serial also will be shown. Sir Guy Standing gives a stellar performance as a retired naval officer, and excellent performances are turned in by the younger members of the cast, Richard Cromwell, Rosalind Keith and Tom Brown. The picture was filmed at and with the cooperation of students and officials of the United States Naval Academy and gives a colorful account of middle life and training, into which is woven the touching story of the retired officer and his unflagging devotion to his country and his old ship.

SERVICE AT GREEN CAMP
Rev. M. L. Buckley, retired Marion minister, will deliver Mother's day sermons Sunday at 9:45 a. m. at the Green Camp Evangelical and Reformed church and at 11 a. m. at the Prospect Evangelical and Reformed church.

A play was torn from real life to furnish the story of "The Prisoner of Shark Island," the dramatic story of the tragedy of one man's life, which opened a four-day stay today at the Ohio George M. Cohan's "Song and Dance Man" with Claire Trevor and Paul Kelly, will be shown on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Because "The Prisoner of Shark Island" is real, is the story of a real man and a real "living hell," the picture has been hailed as one of the most gripping pictures of the year. The story was adapted from the true historical account by Nunnally Johnson.

Grim, fever-ridden Fort Jefferson, the massive American fortress off the southern tip of Florida, of which few present-day citizens of the nation were aware until this picture was produced, is the scene of the drama in which Warner Baxter plays the title role. George M. Cohan, Arthur Byron, O. P. Heggie and Claude Gillingwater portray the principal supporting roles.

The picture tells a story of the stormy era following the Civil War. After Lincoln was assassinated his murderer fled to Maryland where he prevailed upon a physician to set his broken leg. That physician was Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd, played by Baxter, and to the frazzled nation he became an accomplice in the murder of its idol. To Francis McDonald fell the onerous job of portraying one of the most hated men in history, because of his startling resemblance to John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Lincoln. McDonald was given the role of the murderer in the picture. It is after Baxter is unjustly tried by a madened nation, and sentenced to life in the Dry Tortugas prison, that the real drama of the picture begins.

George M. Cohan's fame like to remember his famous stage success, "Song and Dance Man," as one of the greatest stories of theatrical life ever written, and now it comes to the screen with Claire Trevor, Paul Kelly and Michael Whalen in the leading roles. Kelly portrays the title role as the song-and-dance man with big-time ambitions and small-time talent, and Miss Trevor is the girl for whom he steps out of the picture to give her the Broadway success he knows she deserves.

Ruth Donnelly, James Burke, Helen Roy, Lester Matthews and Ralf Harold are in the supporting cast. Kelly earned his first stage role at the age of seven in David Warfield's "The Grand Army," because he could whistle through his teeth. He does his first singing and dancing for pictures in "Song and Dance Man."

Several feature dances, including a "moonlight," are on the program. The country club has been decorated by a committee under the direction of Walter Guthrie and Miss Margaret Walrus. Miss Ruth Crow is in charge of the ticket sale. Tickets are available from members of the club or at the door.

Arrangements for the dance were completed today by Arthur Amick, general chairman of the committee, and Mr. Hinklin. Ralph E. Carhart is chairman of the reception committee.

"CLIVE OF INDIA" ON OAKLAND PROGRAM

Dramatic Story of Orient To Come Here for Three-Day Run.

"Clive of India," one of the fine dramatic pictures of last year, will have its third showing in Marion Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Oakland.

Ronald Colman and Loretta Young are starred in this stirring story of one of the heroes of English history, brought to the screen as a very real and thrilling person. Miss Young as his beautiful wife gives one of her best performances and heading the excellent supporting cast are Colin Clive, Francis Lister, C. Aubrey Smith and Cesar Monfiro.

The black crime of the Black Hole of Calcutta is brought to light on the screen for the first time. Not even the Bastille of France or the Tower of London housed greater horror than that infamous cell, some 15 feet square, into which, on June 20, 1756, 145 men and one woman were crammed by the soldiers of a cruel potentate and left to die in the night of hideous suffering. The picture has tenderness, romance, drama and humor and is first-rate entertainment. A Mickey Mouse comedy will be on the same bill.

Harold Hall Wright's "The Calling of Dan Matthews," in which Richard Arlen is starred, will be shown Wednesday and Thursday on a bill with a Big Boy Williams action drama, "The Law of the 48's." Charlotte Wynters, Douglas Dumbrille and Donald Cook support Arlen in the filmation of the powerful story of a young, small-town pastor who goes to New York trying to clean up the town. He runs into plenty of alien, a good deal of grief and a beautiful girl he falls in love with before the satisfying climax is reached. Molly O'Day is Williams' leading woman in his role of a two-gun fighter who, with a faithful pal, goes to a bandit-terrorized community and proceeds to put the law of the six-shooter into telling effect.

A humdinger of a bright comedy, "If You Could Only Cook," also will be given a third showing in the city, this time on Friday and Saturday. Herbert Marshall and attractive Jean Arthur play the starring roles in this modern, fast-moving, snappy-dialogued romance of a wealthy automobile manufacturer and a poor young girl who get jobs as butler and cook to Leo Carrillo, wealthy gangster. Carrillo and Lionel Stander are perfect foils for the suave comedy of Marshall and the infectious Miss Arthur.

Torres are starred in "Red Wagon," which will be shown on the same bill. The picture was made from an Eleanor Smith novel, and has Greta Nissen, Don Alvarado and blond Anthony Bushall in the chief supporting parts. It's a circus story, with Blackford as the soft-hearted, hard-fisted, hard-man of the show. An animal stampede is one of the highlights.

HARDING COACHES AT O. S. U. CLINIC

Carl Cramer, Harding High football coach, William Williams, assistant and Forrest Shatrock, captain of the 1936 team, today attended the children clinic for high school coaches at Ohio State university.

TO THE VOTERS OF MARION COUNTY

As we approach the Primary Election, May the 12th, I wish to submit to the voters of Marion County my reason for seeking re-election for another term as County Recorder. Prior to being elected to this office, I had never served as a Clerk or Deputy.

In the past the office of County Recorder has been a two year term, but recently legislation was enacted in the State of Ohio making the term of office for County Offices four years, effective at the fall election next November.

When I have completed my second term of office, my first and second terms of two years each will be equivalent to one four year term. If I should be reelected for a four year term, the entire time which I have served as Recorder will be equivalent to that of the Recorder who is elected for his second term under the new State law. During the time I have been privileged to serve the people of Marion County I have tried, to the best of my ability to be fair, economical and efficient in conducting the affairs of my office.

The Recorder's office is now self-supporting and over a three year period, after paying for all supplies used in our office and paying all salaries, including that of the Recorder's, the office has a profit of over twenty-six hundred dollars, $2600.

In order to serve the public, the office has been kept open on Saturday afternoons from one to three o'clock p. m., to accommodate those who could not come in to the office during the week. This service I shall continue if re-elected.

When you go to the polls to vote on May the 12th, I trust that you, the voters of Marion County, have appreciated my honesty and economy and that you will mark your ballot for my re-election. I shall sincerely appreciate your support.

More than the usual interest is being shown in the candidacy of J. W. Buck, of Salt Rock township, for the Republican nomination County Commissioner.

This outstanding candidate has been a resident of Marion County for almost a half century, practically all his life, and is well and favorably known in every district. Practically all of his working years have been spent on a farm and at the present time he operates a large farm in the upper part of the county where he makes his home, Morral. Ever since he attained his majority in years he has taken a keen active interest in public affairs and has held a number of minor positions in his township, having served on the school board and for the past twenty-six years has been township trustee. The latter office is very similar to the office of County Commissioner, having to do with ditch and road work, all of which Mr. Buck is thoroughly familiar with. He has proven his worth in his present position and is worthy and deserving of the favorable consideration of the voters for one of the two Republican nominations for County Commissioner. If nominated and elected Mr. Buck could be depended upon to cooperate with the other commissioners in the handling of all county business economically, especially as pertaining to road and ditch building and maintenance. He has always interested himself in his party's success and good party members will have an opportunity to show their appreciation of his past efforts by nominating him for the office of County Commissioner, which he is so well qualified to fill.

CANZONERI DEFEATS Pirates Defeat Reds, 9-6; M'LARNIN BEFORE Red Sox Lose To Senators CROWD OF 16,000

Fight Draws $85,763 Gate One of Garden's Biggest in Years

By The Associated Press NEW YORK, May 9 — So a good little man has no chance against a good big man? How little Tony Canzoneri must have holed at that one.

More than 18,000 fans saw the "heavy" king of the lightweight explode the age-old theory in Madison Square Garden last night.

Following after a first round bombardment that left both fighters into the flat horizon, Canzoneri, a 9 to 5 underdog in the betting, came back to give Jimmy McLarnin.

In one round of all the welterweights, McLarnin, who had defeated the Irishman 12 years of brilliant ring campaigning.

After that, the first round CANZONERI in which McLarnin seemed headed for an early knockout it was mostly Canzoneri. Spotting the Celt six and one half pounds Canzoneri won seven of the remaining nine rounds.

He punished McLarnin with a two-fisted attack to capture the second and third fifth with and sent him to the floor in the ninth and tenth.

McLarnin took only the first fourth and eighth. The gate reached $85,763.50 and except for the Joe Louis Paulino fight last December was the largest the Garden has drawn in more than four years.

After the bruising speedy thrilling 10-round display of glove swinging, the game but crushed McLarnin admitted it probably was the end of the trail for him.

He a grand fighter that he said Jimmie as at tendants managed his badly swollen jaw. I guess I ought to quit at that fighting once a year is tough going.

YESTERDAY'S STARS JOHNNY MIZZI FOR MILWAUKEE and JIM LEE for CINCINNATI were the stars in the second round of the game.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

CRISP FROCK WITH COAT-LINES BECOMING TO LARGER SIZES

When a trim coat frock says reverse are the things and they're crisply notched, and in contrasting fabric - could you ask for anything smarter? No matter how generously you're built, you can look smart, young, well-proportioned in this slim, warm-weather style, whether you're in the garden, in the house or on the porch. And don't you admit that the double-breasted effect is both slenderizing and chic? Why not make it in a serviceable striped percale or seersucker, or turn out a second version in cool peasant crash with matching collar?

Pattern 2639 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send Fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number.

Be sure to state size.

Order our New Anne Adams Pattern Book and learn how easily you can make a smart summer wardrobe that's just your style! The latest frocks, suits, blouses, beach and vacation clothes, bridal outfits. Lovely clothes for children too. Smart style for stouts. And a full picture-story of summer fabrics and accessories. Book 15c. Pattern 15c. Twenty-five cents for both, when ordered together.

Annie Rooney

GEE, ZERO, I JUST THOUGHT - A WHOLE WEEK HAS GONE BY AN' I DIDN'T GO TO MY CIRCUS - OR RIDE ON MY TRAIN - I GUESS IT WAS 'CAUSE I WAS TOO BUSY

OR MAYBE IT WAS 'CAUSE I WAS TOO HAPPY - EVER SINCE MR. BULLION SAID HE WAS GONNA GIVE A HOUSE FREE TO LOTS OF POOR FOLKS, JUST SEEN 'HOW HAPPY POOR FOLKS ARE, MAKES ME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER

AND THE HOUSES ARE JUMPING UP SO FAST IT WON'T BE LONG BEFORE EVERY POOR KID WON'T BE POOR NO MORE - THEY'LL HAVE A HOUSE AND A LITTLE GARDEN - JUST LIKE RICH FOLKS HAS

WOULDN'T IT BE WONDERFUL IF ALL RICH MEN WAS NICE AND KIND LIKE MR. BULLION IS? THEY COULD SPEND MONEY TO MAKE FOLKS HAPPY 'AN' I'LL BETCHA THAT WOULD MAKE THEM FEEL HAPPY, TOO
